
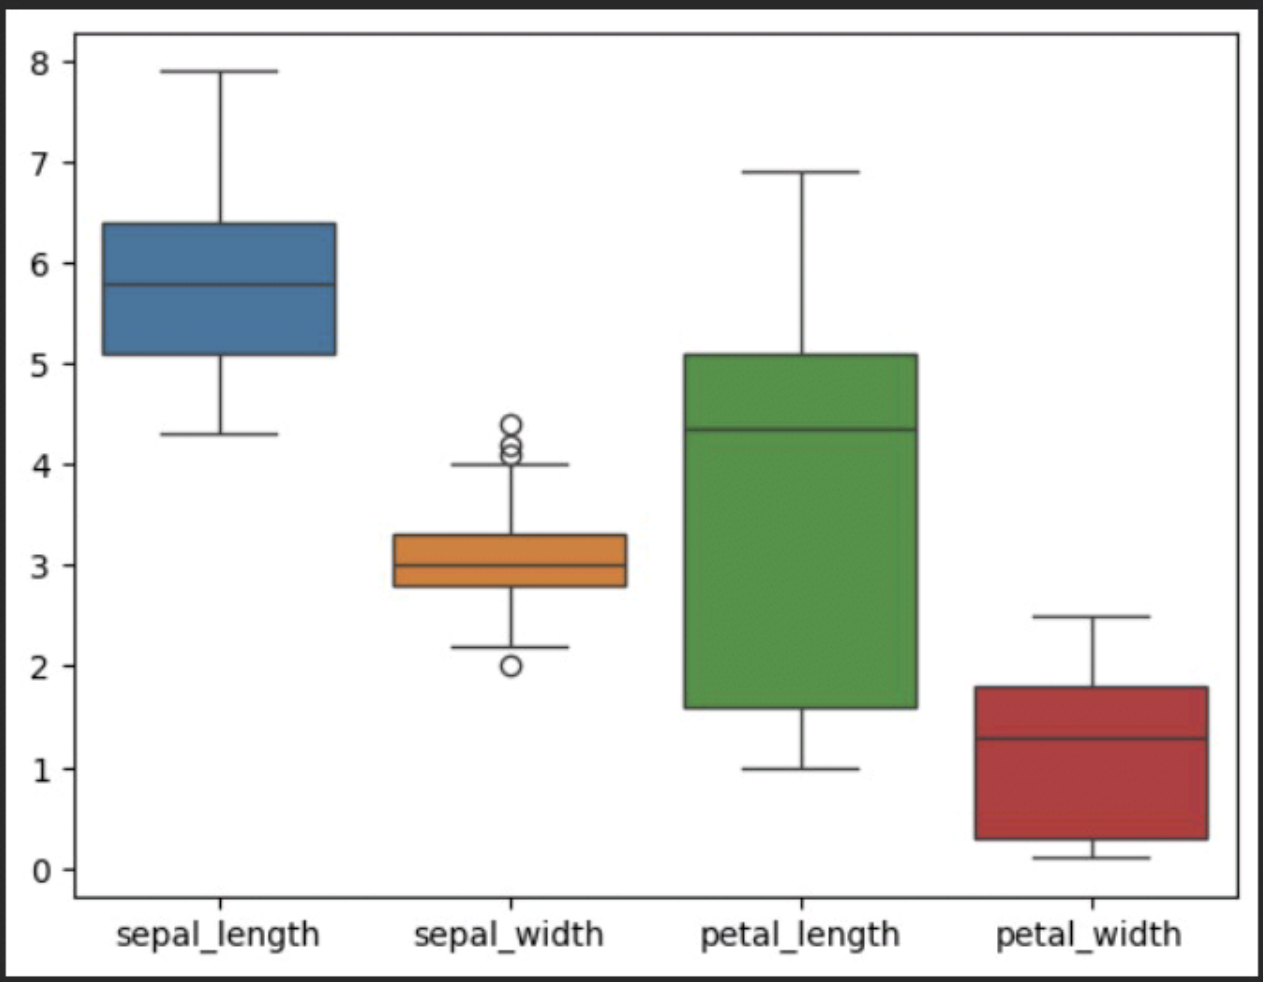
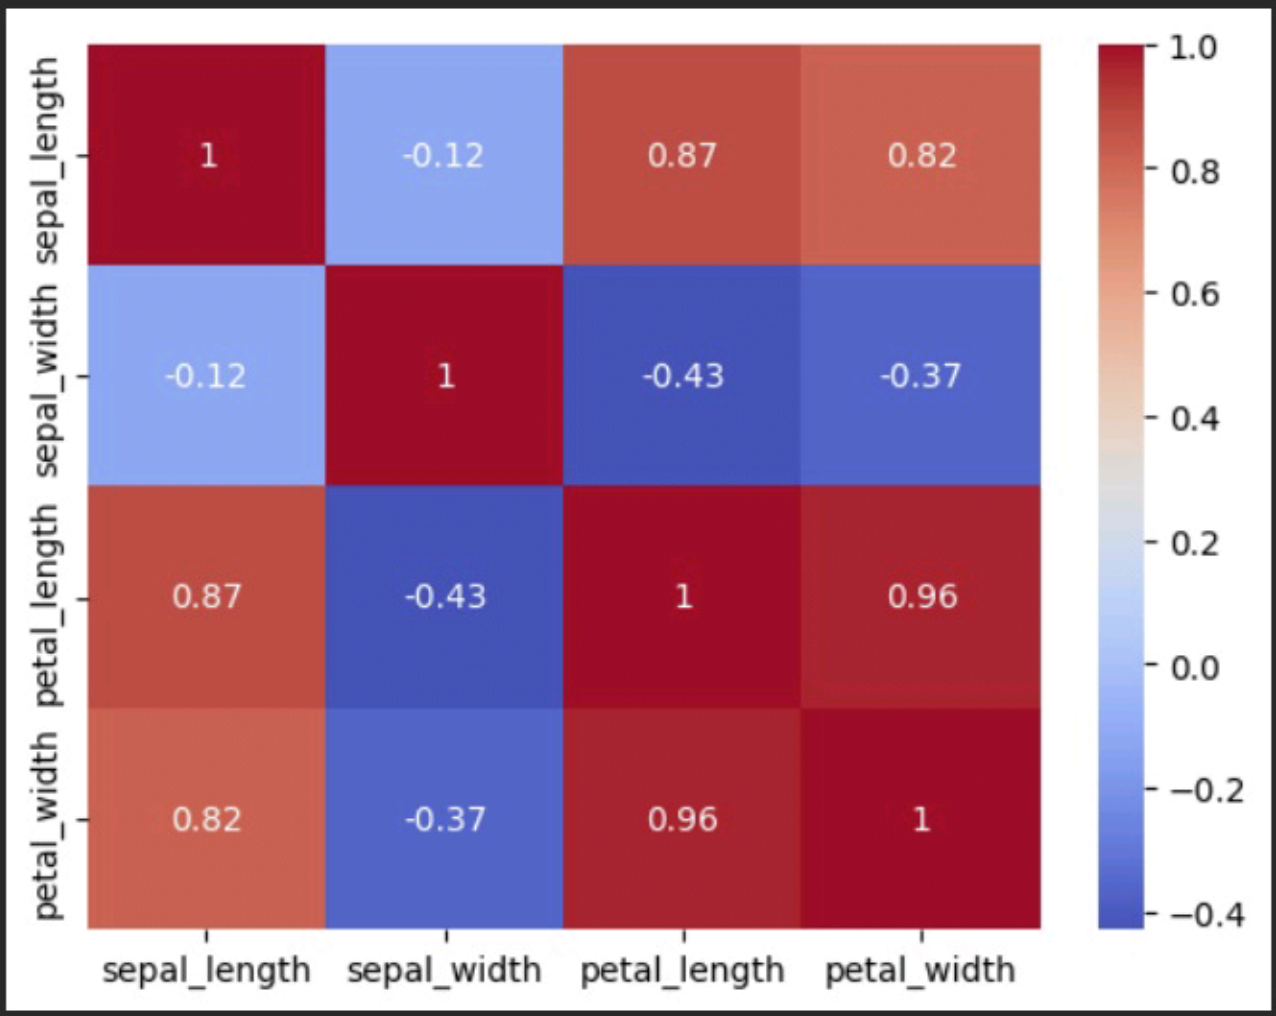
Sepal length and petal length show clear variation across samples.



Petal width shows some outliers compared to other features.



Petal length and petal width are highly correlated.